The Strand soloists for the week will be Miss Mary Mitchell, soprane, who will be heard in "Ah, Moon of My Delight" from "A Persian Garden" by Miss Lehmann. Organ solos by Ralph Will be heard. The Symphony Orchestra's everture of "Il Guarny," by Gemez, will be conducted by Carl Edeuarde and Francis W. Sutherland.

The feature attraction at the Strand will be a screen version of Marshall Kellan's story "Dinty," personally discreted by himself and starring Wesley Barry, the freckle faced juvenile actor, whose success with Miss Mary Pickford in "Daddy Long Legs" led to a specity stardom. The scenario was written by Marion Fairfax and the production is seleased through the First National Explications. The story concerns Dinty O'Bullivers, an orphaned San Francisco heweboy with a fighting spirit significant of his name. Managing Director Plunk-Str also will provide a new comedy and a special scenie study.

William D. Taylor's production of "The Furnace," based on the popular novel of the same name by "Pan," an anonymous British author, will be the principal picture at the Rialto. It is a Realart picture and is interpreted by a cast including Miss Agnes Ayres, Milton Sills, Theodore Roberts, Jerome Patrick and Edward Martindel. The adaptation of "The Furnace" was the work of Miss Julia Crawford Ivers. The picture refects life in aristocratic British circles. A Sunshine comedy entitled "His Wife's Caller" will be another screen attraction.

Next week's features at Loew's New York will include "The Penalty," Moning; "Slaves of Vanity," with Miss Pauline Frederick, Tuesday; "Her Beoved Villain," with Miss Wanda Hawoy, Wednesday; "The Leopard Woman," with Miss Louise Glaum, Thursisy; "Beware of the Bride," with Miss Slicen Percy, and "A Beggar in Furdle," with a star cast, Friday; "Always Audacious," with Wallace Reid, Saturiay, and "The Great Redeemer," with House Peters and Miss Marjorie Daw, Sunday. with lives in Pittsfield, Mass., and the other
